CAR SHORTAGE WILL OCCUR IF ORDERING COAL IS DEFERRED

The Interstate Commerce Commission has issued a warning that a car shortage is likely to occur if the purchase and production of coal is not entered upon vigorously before the fall and early winter movement of fuel begins to tax the transportation facilities.

The necessity for increasing coal production prior to the peak movement, in the opinion of the commission, would seem apparent if the public is to avoid transportation difficulties.

In sounding its warning, the commission emphasizes the following conditions which may cause a car shortage:

"The average production of bituminous coal per year for the past seven years (exclusive of the strike year 1922) has been approximately 520,000,000 tons. The average production in the last six months of such years was 5.8 per cent greater than the average for the first six months. For the first half of this year production has been about 227,639,000 tons. If in the last half of this year production is 6.8 per cent greater than in the first half, the total for the last six months will be 243,113,000 tons, or an average of 5,500,000 tons weekly for weeks of six working days each. Since April 1, 1924, the bituminous coal produced has been less than 7,500,000 tons per week in each instance.

"It can readily be seen, therefore, that if shipments of bituminous coal for winter consumption are deferred for any considerable length of time, the railroads will be called upon to handle a very large quantity of coal during the peak movement in the fall. The aggregate of bituminous coal shipped via lake to the Northwest during the 1924 season of Lake navigation to June 30, plus bituminous coal stocks at the head of the lakes April 1 of this year, is 12 per cent less than the corresponding figure for 1923 and 16 per cent less than the corresponding total for 1921, although larger than in 1920 and 1922. However, during the fall months of 1920 and 1922 there were severe car shortages and in the latter year a miners' strike.

"The coal stocks on docks at Duluth, Superior, Ashland and Washburn on June 15, 1924, aggregated 1,246,638 tons as compared with 1,793,999 tons on June 15, 1923, or an increase of 544,664 tons, indicating that considerably less coal has been distributed from the head of the lakes than this period last year.

"Roads in the Northwest will soon be taxed to their utmost with the heavy demand on transportation in the fall months, during which period we will undoubtedly have a very heavy movement of agricultural products. It is therefore urged that the people of the Northwest that they purchase their coal early, in order to avoid a curtailment in the transportation necessary for the heavy movement of agricultural products.

"There are no definite records available respecting present coal stocks. The stocks as of January 1, 1924, aggregated 52,000,000 tons. At that time railroad coal stocks totaled 10,367,056 tons, as compared with 15,630,247 tons June 1, which is a decrease of 50 per cent. If the same percentage of decrease is applied to the aggregate coal stocks, the figure as of January 1 would be reduced to 49,609,800 tons; which may not be a fair approximation of the coal stocks as of June 1, 1924.

"It is thought advisable to call the attention of the public at this time to the foregoing situation. The fall months usually are the peak months of transportation, and if the carriers are called upon to handle an enormous coal traffic during those months in addition to the other commodities which they are called upon to transport, their facilities will be taxed to the utmost.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

A Separate Nook.

One Mother Says:

It isn't possible for each of my children to have his own room, but I see to it that every one has some place of his own in which no one else has any right. With my oldest child it is a corner and a desk, while the others have a crib or set of shelves. I advise "ten about the order in these nooks, but I do not interfere with the ownership control. Upward Trend in Industry Is Near, Coal Men Told

Industry and agriculture must go hand in hand, and "live and let live" must be the motto for all, if we are to perpetuate our wonderful record of national progress and advancement, regarding which I entertain not the slightest doubt.

Mr. Lee made an interesting personal reference to the men and development of the coke region.

"Associated with the development of this coal and coke region, both as to earlier period and the present period, are found many strong personalities. From what I gather, you have in Mr. M. M. Cochran, an oracle, a sage, a counselor who, on score of merit, is hailed as dean. Mention the names of James R. Gray, George and Harry Wherry, W. A. Stone, W. W. Farhall, W. L. Byers, William Allison and a score of others of like prominence and energy, and you bring to mind facts and incidents inseparably connected with the entire economic and social growth of this famous area. There are those who claim the 'old hand' championship of the world is held by a member of your association and graciously point to Charlie Lehart as the bearer of that signal title. He might try to pass such laurels on to the shoulders of some of the young set, yet, as George Bortz, for instance, and retain for himself the honor which he has won at golf. Talking it all in all, serious and operations as a composite picture, it is safe to conclude that the coal and coke industry is in thoroughly capable and alert hands."

Mr. Galloway, vice-president of the Baltimore & Ohio, spoke along these similar to the address of Mr. Lee, and statistics showing the development of the transportation industry and the problems it faces. His references as to the peculiar problems presented the management of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad because of differences between union and non-union coal producing fields, were of especial interest to the coal and coke men in attendance.

Minister's Wife Killed by Long Leap During Fire

By United Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Mrs. David Duke Waugh, wife of a Waterbury, N. Y. minister, was killed and her husband perhaps fatally burned in a fire which swept a five story apartment house here today. Rev. Waugh, 60, was taken to a hospital where physicians said his condition is serious. Mrs. Waugh was killed when she leaped from a fourth floor window to the street.

Harry Burton also was burned in rescuing an elderly woman from the flames. Scores fled over roofs in night attire and there were a number of thrilling rescues.

Premature Old Age of Women.

It is no secret that so many women suffer from ailments peculiar to their sex. Dark circles appear under the eyes, a pale, drawn, haggard expression to the countenance, and the weakness which accompanies such ailments is evidenced by the lagging step, headaches, backache and nervous conditions. Every woman who is afflicted in this way should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which for half a century has been overcoming some of the most stubborn ailments of women. WILKES-BARRE, Aug. 1.—Two young girls trapped on a trestle of a Wilkes-Barre connecting railroad while taking a short cut were instantly killed here this afternoon when struck by a freight train.

The crew evidently did not see the children as the train did not stop.

Colored Heels Worn to Match Jewelry Outfit

Colored heels are being worn a great deal, especially if one has adopted the emerald and blue combination. In one's jewelry, in which case one's heels below a white frock may be green as bits of Ireland and quite as lively. "Emeralds and pearls," of course, may be translated "imitation," for even the smartest women wear the three strands of pearls fastened at front or back with a sort of brooch of imitation emeralds. Then, too, there is the string-made of about five pearls, followed by a persistent emerald, five pearls again, and so on. Green, one sees, is decidedly chic this year.

Marabou Is Used on Chiffon Gown

Dainty Trimming Is Usually Most Effective When Colors Match.

In a recent showing of new models, says the Boston Globe, several frocks which attracted considerable interest were smart affairs of chiffon or satin. Their distinctive note lay in the use of clipped marabou for trimming.

For some time there has been a good deal of talk about the revival of marabou and one or two imported models had wide bands around the hem and forming a huge collar.

The new frocks, however, are striking exponents of the use of this trimming on youthful dance frocks. They are really charming and possess a slight Russian appearance that is decidedly picturesque. As a rule the marabou matches the color of the material and is especially effective in white, shell pink and blue.

One interesting dress of black satin finished crepe has a straight tight long-waisted bodice joined to a circular skirt finished around the bottom with a ten-inch band of marabou clipped very fine. Another frock of shrimp pink chiffon has two bands on a skirt also circular in cut, while a group of three narrow bands is an effective trimming on the dress of white chiffon. Crystals add a touch of the brilliancy that serves to accentuate its youthful charm.

Trotter came out on the short end of a 14 to 3 score last evening in a combat with the crack Ralph team, played at Trotter. Lefty Childs, hurler for the Ralph outfit, twirled a good game allowing but four hits and striking out 13 blemen. ### FAIRMONT WILL PLAY AT SCOTSDALE PARK SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, Aug. 1—Scottdale will have as its attraction on Saturday, August 2, the game starting at 3:30, the Fairmont Elks, one of the best semi-pro clubs in West Virginia. The Fairmont Elks on July 4 defeated Uniontown in the Fayette county seat, and have since trimmed Charlestown, McKeesport Tubers, Cumberland

Colts and Sackville Stogies. The game is the first of a series, the second to be played at Fairmont. Scottdale will have in its line-up Harriek, the Morgantown star, who did so well against Jeannette. Gatchel will be on the mound, with Smith back of the plate. A new outfielder will likely be with the Independents, taking the place of Hobe Fisher, the Connellsville flash, who is out for the season because of injuries sustained in a game while playing for the Captain Glass team.

Pirates Whitewash Giants. The Pittsburgh Pirates downed New York Giants yesterday in the second game of the series and ran their winning streak to seven games. A six-inning fray was halted by rain after the Pirates chalked up five runs in the second inning. Mendows was opposed by Watson and Bentley.

With the resignation of Jack Danford and Havana, catchers for the Uniontown Elks, Harry Beigfried was appointed field captain for the Elks and will take charge of the team on Saturday when the Cumberland Colts play at Uniontown.

Although Babe Ruth swatted out his 33rd homer of the season, the Yankees lost both ends of a doubleheader yesterday to the St. Louis outfit, while the Senators beat the Tigers. But one game separates the Nats from first place. Babe broke his own record by clouding his 14th homer in a month. His previous record was 12 in 1923.

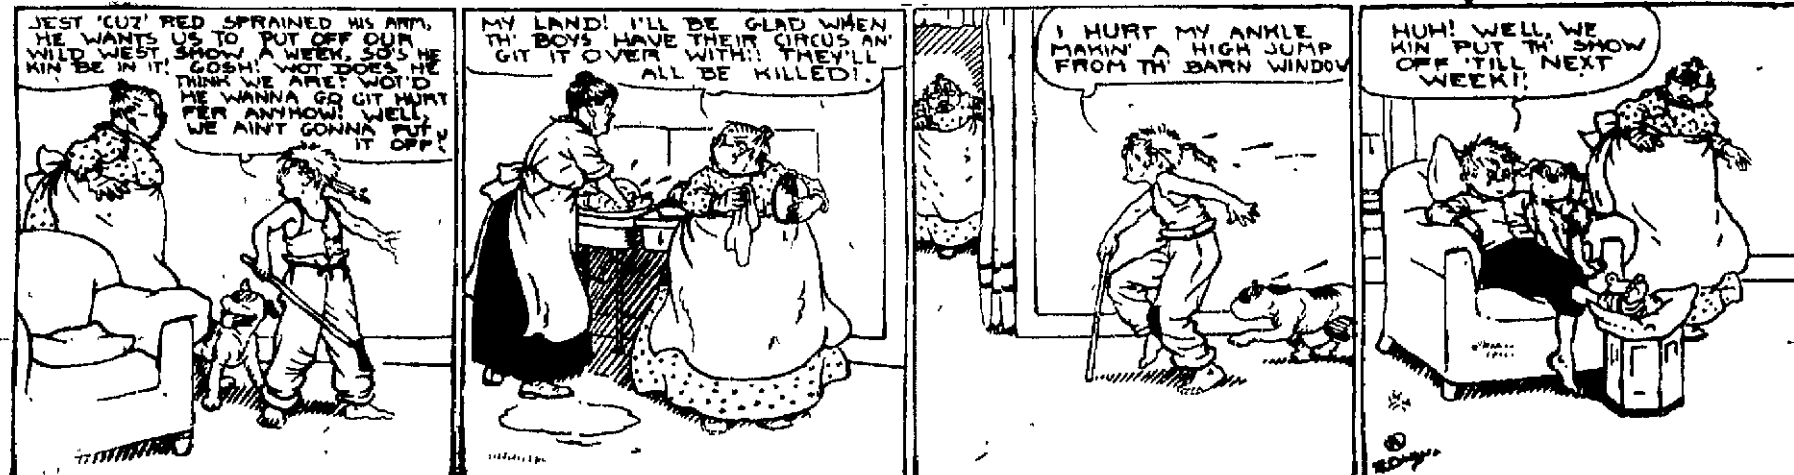

George Gemas, Navy wrestler, left today for Philadelphia after spending his furlough here. The U. S. S. Lamson, No. 328, on which he is stationed, is anchored there. Gemas said that upon his return, several months hence, he will wrestle a leading heavy weight from Maryland.

Capitan Will Play Browntown Saturday

The Capitan Independents will resume their schedule Saturday afternoon when they meet the Browntown Independents of Scottdale. The game will be played at the South Connellsville grounds at 3:30 o'clock. Having chalked up its 30th victory of the year, the "glass blower" outfit will line up against the Nitt Towners in a determined effort to win the 31st game of the season. Alexander will get a chance to run his winning streak a little stronger when he draws the hurling assignment. Alex has won 21 consecutive victories and has run up a strike-out record of 236. Although with several of its crack players on the hospital list, the Capitan management is confident of snagging Browntown.

At the Theatres

The Paramount

"THE LEFT HAND BRAND"—The feature picture today and tomorrow at the Paramount presents Neal Hart in the stellar role.

"Lefty" an unknown hand, has a large reward upon his head for numerous killings. The only clue to the identity of the mysterious slayer is—he dresses his gun with his left hand.

Don Smith, the wealthiest and most influential man in the county, lures the sheriff and citizens with a lack of interest in apprehending the elusive outlaw and personally increases the reward.

King Calhoun (Neal Hart) a 'no-ord-well' cowboy, wanders into the country when the excitement is at its height. He settles down temporarily upon a small ranch and, soon after his arrival, the owner becomes a victim of the much wanted 'Lefty'.

Kid Wayburn, the son of the murdered ranchman and King, becomes a victim of 'Lefty' and is engaged to Maisee. She had repulsed the unwelcome Smith, who vowed to make her his wife.

When Ned meets the same fate as his father, King promises to find the killer. Before the boy dies he forces King to promise to protect Maisee and also to marry her.

Monday and Tuesday, "A Broken Wing" featuring Kenneth Harlan and Miriam Cooper, will be shown.

The Soisson

"HOW TO EDUCATE A WIFE" which opened yesterday at the Soisson for a three day attraction is one of the best pictures shown at this theatre in months. It will be enjoyed by all members of the family and is a picture the many patrons of the theatre cannot afford to miss. Monte Blue, Marie Prevost, supported by a number of other screen favorites, appear in the leading roles. The story is that of matrimony and combines the imaginative force of wit by telling amusing situations with a certain realism of actual fact that makes it stand out as an exceptional picture for enjoyment of the kind that strikes home even in the best of regulated families. A comedy, "Political Pull" and the latest News Weekly are also included. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, "The Real Adventure," a drama of a girl's dreams and realities will be shown. Florence Vidor, popular screen star, appears in the stellar role.

The Orpheum

"POTASH AND PERLMUTTER"—Showing today and Saturday at the Orpheum, is a sparkling gem of humor and pathos, a photoplay that ranks with the greatest of pictures. Based on the famous play by Mortimer Glass, "Potash and Perlmutter" is notable chiefly for its rich humor, but it also contains moments of rare pathos which bring a gulp to the throat of the spectator. Especially is this true in the incident where Abe Potash is being led to a cell because out of the largeness of his heart he had helped an innocent friend to flee from the clutches of the police. Knowing that his friend was guiltless of the charge, Abe had supplied him with money to get out of the country—and then was ordered jailed until the fugitive was caught.

With a policeman on each side Abe was started for a cell, but he never reached it for a dramatic denouement brought about his release.

The role of Abe is portrayed by Barney Bernard, while Alexander Carr plays the part of Morrie Perlmutter. Vera Gordon is co-starred with these two players, who created their respective roles in the highly successful stage version.

Freedom Came High to Thaw

By United Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1.—Thousands of dollars were spent to obtain Harry K. Thaw's release from Kirkbride Asylum here where he had been confined seven years. It was revealed when the trustees of the millionaire's estate, Walter Riddle Pittsburg and Howard Irish, Philadelphia, presented a final accounting of their stewardship to the common pleas court here and asked to be discharged from further duties in the estate.

Piles

Can't Be Cured From the Outside.

External treatments seldom cure piles. No surgical operations. The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead. So quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one sure method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leachard, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his preparation, "Leachard's" and tried it in 1,000 cases before he was satisfied. Now "Leachard's" is sold by druggists everywhere or by mail. It is a harmless tablet easy to take and can always be found at Connellsville Drug Co. who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer—Advertisement.

THIS PRESCRIPTION FOR KIDNEYS

No Drugs—Just Roots and Herbs

4 Ounce Bottle, 75c

Years ago Dr. Carey said, "When backache comes get after your kidneys—and don't waste any time." "Right at the start go to your druggist and ask for Dr. Carey's Marsh-root Prescription No. 777. Take it as directed until backache ceases and your eyes are clear and bright."

For more than 40 years Dr. Carey specialized in diseases of the kidney and bladder, and when, in the height of his remarkably busy life he decided to dispense the most effective kidney and bladder prescription through the better druggists he helped thousands who could not afford to go to him for treatment.

Thousands of unobscured people have kidney ailments and never know it until too late. High colored urine getting up in the night, and puffy eyes tell the story.

If you even suspect—start today with Dr. Carey's Marsh-root Prescription No. 777. It will drive the poisons from your kidneys and your druggist knows all about it.

C. Roy Hotzel dispenses lots of it. It comes in liquid and tablet form. It will help you as it has a host of others. If it should not if you aren't glad in one week's time that you bought it, money gladly returned—and only 75c—Advertisement.

The account of the committee showed that Thaw receives income yearly of nearly $60,000 from two trust estates and that they had charge of securities belonging to Thaw which amounted to about $700,000. In the near future when the provisions of the trust have been carried out Thaw will get a million dollars more. It was said.

While the report did not disclose the amount of fees paid to lawyers in the litigation the committee stated that a sum of about $15,000 had not been turned over to Thaw with the rest of the estate, this amount being held to pay bills of various alienists and medical experts testifying before the Thaw lunacy hearing here and legal expense which may yet have to be met.

Alienists will get between $1,000 and $2,000 each for their reports to the committee and their examination of Thaw. Dr. Hill, the chief medical expert called on behalf of Thaw will receive more than $2,000, it was said.

Fees paid other medical experts testifying in favor of Thaw's release from the Pennsylvania Hospital for Mental and Nervous Diseases were not revealed.

In addition to the heavy fees paid alienists and physicians, his brilliant staff of lawyers and many other incidentals, Thaw, through his estate and his aged mother Mrs. Mary C. Thaw of Pittsburg paid about $25,000 for settlement of Dr. Gump suit before he began his fight for liberty.

Gain at Furnace Plants Not as Significant as Appears from Returns

Really Represents Coke Made Before Banked Ovens
Were Blown Out.

1,354 ADDED TO LIST

Of which 1,325 were at Frick Plants,
Reducing that Interest to Low Level
During Depression of 1921; Increase Must Come From Merchant Plants.

From The Weekly Courier.

Last week the merchant coke operations barely held their own with respect to the comparatively slight gain in production during the week ended July 18. But increase in the period now under review having been but 50 tons.

The plants of the furnace interests made a braver showing, however, in having advanced their sale of 629 tons in the week of July 19 to 5,370 tons last week. The result of the week's operation was a joint gain of 5,390 tons to a total of 54,320 tons.

On the face of the returns this increase in output might appear as a very significant development. It is not, however, and for several reasons.
In the first place, practically the whole of the gain took place at plants of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, the leading furnace interest, which has been pursuing the curtailment policy even more vigorously than the merchant operators.

For some time past it has been the practice of this company to bank a large number of ovens for a full week, then draw them preparatory to blowing out entirely. Accordingly the coke thus drawn enters into the production of a week in which the reduced number of ovens would indicate that a material drop in output would be expected.

Last week was a case in point. Although 1,325 ovens were blown out the recorded production was greater than in the week preceding when the larger number of ovens were, nominally active but, on account of banking at several plants, were not actually producing coke. This condition has existed several times during the past six weeks or longer and explains the apparent discrepancy between the tonnage records and the number of ovens reported in blast at furnace plants from week to week.

Even with the increases of the last two weeks taken into account it will be noted that the regional tonnage is barely back to that during the week of July Fourth and is still 7,490 tons short of the pre-fourth week. It follows, therefore, that the improvement of the past fortnight does not become outstanding as an indication of the steady return to the level at which production stood at the close of June.
It merely marks a halt in the downward trend which it is possible may prevail a more certain and definite recovery at a later period.

With the furnace interests having but 1,381 of their ovens in blast, as contrasted with 2,733 at merchant plants, it does not appear that there can be any material gain in the presented aggregate production. If there is it will have to be made by the merchant plants, unless there is a change in the policy of the Frick company to keep its operation on a scale closely resembling that of the mid-summer in 1921, the year of the Big Slump, when for four months its active list ranged between 600 and 955 ovens. They now number but 621.

Such signs as are appearing of the dawn of a brighter day in the coke trade being more without form and void than having shape and dimension, the merchant operators feel no urge to enlarge production. They are encouraged, however, by the trend of things and are more willing than formerly to bide their time.

The estimated production of coke
during the week ended Saturday,

July 26, was 54,320, divided between the two districts as follows: Connecticut, 19,210, an increase of 5,190 tons; Lower Connellsville, 35,110, an increase of 50 tons, or a total increase of 5,240 tons as compared with a total increase of 1,550 tons during the preceding week.

By interests the production was:
Furnace, 18,800, a gain of 3,170 tons;
merchant, 36,520, a gain of 50 tons, as compared with gains of 850 and 750 tons respectively during the week ended July 18.

The decrease of 1,354 in the number of ovens in blast included 1,228 at furnace and 126 at merchant plants.

The former were all at Frick operations and were as follows: Leisengring No. 2, 270; Leisengring No. 3, 310;
Southwest No. 1, 171; Standard, 109;
York Run, 270. The merchant reductions were: Myers, 16; LaFayette, 54.

Production by the merchant and furnace interests and the total compared with the corresponding week in 1923 is shown herewith:

SERIES OF SPORTS TOURNAMENTS FOR VANDERBILT, PLAN

Tennis and Horseshoe Games Scheduled for Next Week by Rev. Beall.

OTHER NEWS OF THE DAY

Special to The Courier.
VANDERBILT, Aug. 1.—Tennis and horseshoe tournaments will be held next week at the James Cochran Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church recreation grounds, supervised by Rev. C. H. Beall, director of recreational work at the church grounds. Tournaments in volleyball, basketball, dodgeball and other recreations will be held in the near future, Rev. Beall announced this morning.

The Boy Scouts of Troop 2, composed of three parishes: White Beavers and Wolf, of the three churches, will hold a tournament in "barney golf." Three sets of pegs will be in use.

The tennis tournament will be launched by the men of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The schedule is being arranged.

Jupiter Pluvius held the upper hand yesterday and the girls and women of the church spent the day without the tennis instruction. Mrs. C. H. Beall is in charge of the girls on the recreation grounds.

An inter-church volleyball team has been organized by the three local churches, Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian and Christian. The team is composed of the Sunday school classes of the three churches and will challenge the various Sunday school classes throughout the community.

The first game for the volleyball team, in all probability, will be played Friday evening. The opponent has not been decided.

At M. E. Church Sunday.
Sunday services at James Cochran Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. C. H. Beall, pastor, will be: Church school at 9:45 o'clock; worship at 11. There will be no Epworth League meeting during the summer months. Evening worship at 7:30 o'clock, subject, "A Parable of the Master."

Jerry Ritenour and John Pillar copped honors of the day by winning 10 out of 11 games. The two are planning to meet the city double champions, Newmyer and McLaughlin in the near future. Penworth and Darby defeated in the fight for the city championship are nagging after another chance at the crown, but claim that the champs have been dodging them.

A Plea to Men

Please Keep Your Hair.
By Edna Wallace Hopper.

You men admire luxuriant hair, thick and lustrous, healthy, clean. And so do we, dear sirs. Then, will you, through sheer neglect, let your hair disappear?

My hair is finer than 40 years ago. It grows thicker every year. I have never known falling hair or dandruff, and never a touch of gray. Just because I searched the world for the best hair help, men know. And I had them combined in a bottle and I call it Hair Youth. From time to time each bottle has been discovered and has been added to it.

I believe the expert I consult know all that is known about hair. I know they supply me their utmost. Certainly no factors ever discovered have brought finer hair than mine.

Now I offer you, as I offer women, this supreme help for the hair. It is concentrated. You apply it with an eyedropper directly to the scalp. There it combats the hardened oil and dandruff which so stiffen the hair roots. It tones and stimulates. Then hair thrives just as flowers thrive in a well-kept garden.

I know that here I place at your command the greatest hair help in existence. Not some fallacious theory, not some ordinary tonic, but the best that science has discovered, so far as I am find.

All drugists and "kiosk" counters supply my Hair Youth under my name. The first package brings you help. If you seek, or I will pay the cost. The cost is 50 cents and $1 with eyedropper. Let me urge you to try it. We women—all of us—love to see heavy, healthy hair. And I have found the way. I will send you a bottle to try, without cost if you mail this coupon to me.

OWES DEBT TO FRIEND RECOMMENDING TANLAC

"When I compare my present fine condition with the poor health I was in before taking Tanlac, I feel like recommending this medicine to everybody," said Andrew Blitta, a tailor, of 709 Dickinson St., Philadelphia, recently.

"Two years ago, my stomach went wrong and I have suffered from indigestion, gas pains, lack of appetite and nervousness ever since. I had to be very careful about eating, spent most of my nights rolling and tossing from nervousness and felt generally run-down."

Tanlac Vegetable Pills, for constipation, made and recommended by the manufacturers of Tanlac—Advertisement.

"I owe a big debt to my friend who advised me to take Tanlac for it made everything right with me. I eat with enjoyment, my stomach feels like a new one, my nerves are so steady I sleep good every night and I feel fine all over."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Ill Smelling Feet

New Remedy Corrects This Disagreeable Condition At Once and Stops Sweating.

Just wash the feet with soap and cold water and after drying rub on Kojene using one part Kojene and one part water.

Let this dry on the feet—that's all there is to it—but you'll find that your feet won't smell and that's worth a whole lot to people who have any self respect.

While the odor goes at once, you will have to use Kojene every day for a few days before the sweating ceases entirely—but the result is worth the effort.

Not much of a cure is needed—only four or a cupful is plenty and remember that anything that Kojene—the new antiseptic supreme—is advertised to do—it will do or Union Drug Co., or any druggist anywhere will return the 50 cents you paid for the bottle.

Just think! Here is a pleasant antiseptic that you can drink without any ill effects and yet it is four times stronger than carbolic acid which is a dangerous poison that is a menace to any home. We almost forget to mention that this same treatment will take the burning out of sore tired feet.—Advertisement.

"I wanted to see her and tell her about it," he said. "She was understood just what it meant—perhaps, but she's so much more of a woman now."

His voice seemed to come from a long way off. It seemed all part of a horrible nightmare, something unreal, some kind of dream, the argument of a nocturnal fancy. Then she was conscious of his standing before her, waiting, expectant, with the eagerness of a lover in his eyes.

"Myrtle went down to gather some roses," she told him. "You will find her at the end of the pergola."

He was gone almost before the words had left her lips. She was with some sort of muddled excitement, unconscious of the tragedy he had created, clumsily obvious of the fierce struggle which had kept her calm and collected. She turned her head and watched him go, watched his long, eager footsteps, saw his tall figure stoop as he entered the pergola. Her fingers were at the sides of her chair. She looked at the distance between her and the terrace steps. If only she could escape! Her limbs for the time seemed powerless. She sat there with all the healthy color drained from her cheeks, her fixed eyes seeing nothing but the ruin of her childish hopes. She could see herself growing old, marching down the avenues of time, preserving in a certain measure, perhaps her dignity but growing day by day a little more jealous and narrow, a little more suspicious of the happiness of others. There was only one Christopher, and he was there at the bottom of the pergola with Myrtle. Even in her bitterness she did not blame him for a moment. There were a hundred different ways in which she might have misunderstood him. She had made the foolish mistake of listening to the young woman. She had mistaken com-

"Will you keep my secret, please, Mary, and forget my visit?" she repeated wonderingly.

"Myrtle does not care for me," Christopher explained, "not in the way I want her to. It is the same with her now as from that first moment. I thought it was a fancy of which she might have been cured. I find it is nothing of the sort."

At that moment Mary hated herself, hated the joy which swelled up in her heart, hated the sudden disappearance of the color from her face, the sense of grotesque, immeasurable relief. She hated the lying words she spoke.

"Oh, Christopher, I am so sorry!" she said. "I do not understand, but I am very, very sorry."

"Myrtle loves Gerald," he continued. "She will love him all her days. She is one of those strange creatures who will never change, to whom love is just one final thing for good or for evil. She loved Gerald when she stepped into the car and we carried her with us along the road around the end of which she had worn all her dreams. She cares for him so much that I am not sure whether, at the bottom of her pure heart, she does not hate me because I once kept them apart."

She laid her hand upon his arm. That sense of sickening joy had gone. She was a woman again, feeling nothing but sorrow for the suffering of her man.

"Christopher, dear," she begged, "Myrtle will see the truth in time. Gerald cares nothing for her, nothing for anybody except himself and his own pleasures. She will understand this presently. Remember, although she has grown so sensible and so gracious in her attitude toward life, she is really only a child."

"In one way she will always be a child," he answered sadly. "Her love will last her time whether Gerald ever returns it or not."

"There is still your work," she went on, "great, wonderful work waiting for you. And your friends. Don't take this so hard, Christopher."

He looked down at her with a very forced smile.

"Oh, I shall get over it," he assured her. "I am not the first man who has had to face this sort of thing. It is odd, though, that it should have happened to me."

"I wouldn't like me to speak to Myrtle?"

"Absolutely useless," he replied. "She was really shocked when she knew why I had come. I believe it seems to her a little irrational to discuss the possibility of her caring for any one except Gerald. No, I'm not going to encourage any false hopes. Mary, I've had my answer and there's no end of it. What I want to do is to get away."

"That you can do and shall," she insisted. "I did so want to hear about Leeds, but that must be another time. You won't keep away from us because of this Christopher?"

"Of course not," he promised half heartily. "I'll write, if I may. There are heaps of things I want to tell you. You won't mind?"

She smiled and let him open the door, taking him by a device to the courtyard where his car was still standing.

"There," she directed, "you can go out by the south drive, across the deer park, and you won't meet a soul."

"God bless you, Mary!" he said. "You're wonderful!"

"Thank you," she answered simply.

Presently She Rose Gaily to Her Feet and Walked Toward the House passionship, and the desire for companionship, on his part, for the ambler and rarer gift which she herself had been so ready to offer. Christopher, she remembered, had even warned her more than a year ago, at the villa in Monte Carlo that night when they had paced the terrace together. She had refused to take him seriously, and he had never once reverted to the subject. It had not occurred to her, indeed, that he had almost avoided Myrtle during his visits to Hatterleys, and she had compromised him for his discretion. Myrtle was sweet and full of charm, but what use could she be as a wife to an ambitious man like Christopher? How she herself could have been helped with her sympathy, her social influence, her tact, to say nothing of her great fortune! It was amazing what follies a man could commit for the sake of fancy! She could call it nothing else. Presently she rose calmly to her feet and walked toward the house. Soon it swallowed her up, the key was turned in the door of her room, the long minutes that passed were her own. She never counted them then, she never dwelt on them afterward. The period of her agony was, in fact, short enough. Her pride came to her rescue. When her maid tapped on the door she had already batted her eyes, and there remained nothing to do, except her suffering but a little tired look about her mouth and a slight weariness of gait. She opened the door at once.

"Mr. Bent is obliged to go back to town almost immediately, your ladyship," the maid announced. "He has asked especially whether he could see you for a moment."

"Tell Mr. Bent that I shall be down in five minutes," her mistress enjoined.

The maid departed, and Mary turned once more attention to the mirror. This was a trial which she had scarcely expected. Her fingers passed over her face, anxious to smooth out its lines. Her face moved up though she was attacking a prayer, she was, in deed, appealing to herself to the strength and pride of her young womanhood. When she entered the library where Christopher was waiting for her, she knew that she was free from all trace of disturbance.

"Christopher, you don't mean that you are going to leave us at once?" she questioned. "And where is Myrtle? I expect to see her both together?"

"Let Myrtle where I found her," Christopher answered, a little hesita-

U. M. W. UNION HAS LOST PRESTIGE IN SOFT COAL FIELDS

Jacksonville Agreement Has Diverted Business to Non-Union Fields.

MANY UNION MINES IDLE

From information received from various bituminous coal fields, and comment of coal and labor publications, it is becoming apparent that the United Mine Workers organization is suffering very serious impairment of strength and loss of prestige in these fields.

"At no time since 1898," says Seward's Journal "have the fortunes of the United Mine Workers of America been at such a low ebb as at present. In that year the first interstate wage agreement was signed in the bituminous regions, covering the states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, known collectively as the Central Competitive Field."

"For nearly 30 years the union had things pretty much its own way. The interstate agreement was renewed every two years with unflinching regularity, and often at a higher rate. It served as a basis for wage agreements in the outlying soft coal fields, and the non-union regions, being relatively unimportant did not cause the labor leaders much worry or take any great amount of business away from the union operators."

"But times have changed. Recent developments in Southern West Virginia and Eastern Kentucky have been on such a vast scale that the tonnage from those fields and other non-union districts is nearly sufficient to provide the country with all the bituminous coal it needs in times of business depression. With lower wages the unorganized operators have seized so much of the available business that the mine owners who are bound by the Jacksonville agreement have had to close down or run on very short time as a rule."

"Their adversity has naturally been shared by their employees. One estimate, from a labor source has it that only about 25 per cent of the organized miners are working at their trade and they are not employed anything like full time. Of course under these circumstances it is impossible for the rank and file to keep their dues paid up and the union treasury is not as well filled as it used to be."

"The United Mine Workers would be in even worse shape financially were it not for the revenue received from the anthracite miners, who are thoroughly organized and working steadily except for frequent local strikes. Some would say that the recent effort of the higher union officials to end these walk-outs was prompted more by a desire to keep the men busy and paying dues than by virtuous indignation over the way the strikers were breaking the wage agreement."

"Those critics point out that heretofore the leaders have been able to control their indignation when the agreement was violated by the miners. Only in the last few weeks has any real attempt been made to put a stop to outlaw strikes in the anthracite region, which have been of frequent occurrence for years."

"To say that the United Mine Workers is headed for the rocks is doubtless an exaggeration. Yet its power and prestige have waned to the lowest point in 35 years, so far as the bituminous industry is concerned, and it remains to be seen what it can do in the way of a come-back through the return of better trade conditions and active campaigns to organize non-union workers."

Conditions with respect to the union are attributed to the Jacksonville agreement which extended the 1920 scale of wages to the entire soft coal trade did not warrant such action and the persistence with which the union officials now refuse to consent to any modification of the agreement.

"The effect of the Jacksonville agreement," says the Chicago Black Diamond, "so far as the union fields are concerned, has been to stimulate production in non-union fields and, therefore, instead of becoming a boon to the union miners has really become a boomerang. Instead of welding union miners more strongly to the union it has weaned them away from it, for the drift of miners is to non-union territory instead of from non-union regions to organized sections. If union leaders thought that the high wage scale incorporated in the Jacksonville agreement would attract miners to the organized fields, they have had it brought home that the agreement in question has wrought the very opposite effect."

"And yet John L. Lewis and those associated with him are either oblivious, or profess to be oblivious, to the result of their insistence on a high wage scale at a time when there was so light a demand for coal, and when conditions in the industry did not warrant the payment of wartime wages. Lewis has declared that there will be no adjustment and his representative in northern West Virginia has asserted that we licked them in 1922. We licked them in 1924 and we won't have to take any reduction in wages, either. Despite what Mr. Lewis and Mr. Blitzer may say there are no signs that the union is going to lick anybody in 1932. On the other hand it begins to look as if the union were going to be hoist by its own petard and as if the law of supply and demand were going to do the licking."

There are spokesmen for the mine workers, however who do discern what is happening and what was bound to happen under the circumstances. After analyzing the effect of the Jacksonville agreement they realize that instead of strengthening the union and making it possible to extend its dominion, it has, and is, defeating the ends of the union."

The National Labor Tribune declares that the Jacksonville wage agreement was regarded as a glorious triumph for the miners. The triumph however promises to be a gigantic failure, the coal fields having been swept by non-union operations. The Jacksonville victory was nobly won but the non-union fields have gone back to the pit wage scale, thus enabling coal operators to undersell the union operators thirty-three and one-third per cent."

As showing how well it is realized that the Jacksonville agreement has only made the position of the non-union fields more impregnable to organization effort the Labor Tribune goes on to say that "coal operators had very little encouragement in an effort to organize the non-union fields in West Virginia in time to share the present like business. Logan county miners cannot be touched and there are others who seem equally well fortified against invasion by men engaged in organizing miners." The same journal also remarks that "coal producers are taking orders but these are being filled with non-union coal, and the 1921 wage agreement one-third lower than union miners can produce the coal West Virginia and Kentucky can supply coal at $1.50 to $1.75 a ton. It costs the union coal operators $2.75 to produce for the market the same kind of coal."

The Labor Tribune further asserts that "the 1920 scale serves a strange purpose, keeping men idle who are anxious and willing to work and closing mines, while in other sections there is the hum of industry."

Mine Research Work

By Carnegie Tech and Other Institutions

Both the University of Illinois and the Carnegie Institute of Technology will be represented by two, and Pennsylvania State College and Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute will be represented by one each, among the six research fellows just appointed by Carnegie Tech to conduct the 1924-1925 program of coal-mine investigations in cooperation with the United States Bureau of Mines and an advisory board of Pittsburgh district coal operators and engineers.

Each of the research fellows, who have obtained their B. S. degrees and will be candidates for the degree of Master of Science, will be assigned to a senior investigator representing the Pittsburgh station of the Bureau of Mines. A considerable portion of the actual research work will be conducted at the Pittsburgh station, and in a large number of mines in the Pittsburgh district. As has been the case in former years, the investigators will be given full cooperation by the members of the advisory board of operators and engineers.

Of unusual interest to the coal industry is the announcement that "cost and methods of applying rock dust in commercial mines" will be one of the major problems included in the research program for the coming year.

Other problems in addition to the "rock dust" study to be covered in the program for this year, include the following: Relative explosibility of different sizes of coal dust in air; efficiency in blowing coal; friction losses in mine car trucks; and underground loading devices.

Car Loadings Gain Over Preceding Week; Behind Those in 1923

Loadings of revenue freight for the week ending July 25 totaled 910,415 cars. This was an increase of 150,473 cars over the preceding week when freight shipments were reduced owing to the observance of the Fourth of July. Compared with the same week last year it was a decrease of 209,894 cars but with the corresponding week in 1922 when the miners' strike was in progress, it was an increase of 58,723 cars.

Coal loadings amounted to 146,171 cars, an increase of 34,719 cars over the preceding week, a decrease of 47,745 cars under last year, and compared with the same period in 1922.

Coke loadings totaled 714,000 cars, an increase of 445 cars over the preceding week, 7,875 cars under the corresponding week in 1923, and compared with the corresponding week in 1922, a decrease of 2,866 cars.
